THE G. A. R. MEETING.

First Meeting of the National Encampment at Boston.

Commander-in-Chief Alger Delivers His Annual Address.

Condition of the Organization and Pension Question.

He Urges the Erection of a Grant Memorial in Washington.

The Grand Army Encampment.

BOSTON, August 13 The first meeting of the twenty fourth annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic came to order in Music hall at 11 o'clock. Prayer was offered by Past Chief Chaplain I M Foster, and Commander in Chief Alger then delivered his annual address

General Alger congratulated the heroes on the celebration of the twenty fifth anniversary of the close of the rebellion in the historic city known as the "Cradle of Liberty" He delivered warm words of welcome to General Sherman He stated that the condition of the organization was excellent. The total membership borne on the rolls was 458,230 against 427 981 a year ago After referring to the disappointment in the ranks that congress had not passed a service pension bill, the speaker continued "Much misapprehension exists I think, concerning the disability bill passed June 27th, 1890 By careful reading of this law and an official explanation of it, it will be seen that no matter what a man's financial condition may be, if he be physically disabled from performing manual labor, he is entitled to a pension, the conditions being First, physical disability incurred while in the service, and second, that proof of such disability may be made upon a certificate from his physician and with the testimony of his former comrades Should any member of this encampment to day receive a permanent injury, not the result of his own vicious habits, he would be entitled to a pension. Let us be just to our law makers, even though they have not given us all we asked. No country on earth is, or ever has been, nearly so generous to its soldiers as ours" Concerning the Grant monument General Alger said "An ordinary plain vault on the banks of the Hudson marks the resting place of our great chieftain This is not creditable either to us or this nation There should be erected at the capital of this government, dedicated to the memory of this great man, a memorial building such as will be a credit to the whole people, not a shaft, not a statue, but a monumental structure such as has not been seen in this or any country, and one to which every citizen within the domains of this great land can refer with just pride I recommend that a committee of five be appointed by this encampment, whose duty it shall be to solicit aid from the general government and individuals for the purpose of erecting this memorial."

The address was received with frequent expressions of approval. The reports of Adjutant General George H Hopkins, of Detroit, and Quartermaster General John Taylor, of Philadelphia, were presented They were of a routine character

Inspector General Griffith reported that the order was growing numerically strong and working earnestly and harmoniously in furthering the Grand Army and the objects for which it was organized. He presented a table showing that the number of posts in the Grand Army on June 30, 1890, was 6988. The number of comrades in good standing in posts inspected to June 1st was 351,344. The number of posts not inspected was 1051. The total amount expended for charity was $283,586, and the amount remaining in the relief fund $475,850

At the afternoon session the officers were elected, the principal offices going to the east in pursuance, as it is claimed by some, of a plan to give the encampment to the west for three successive years, Detroit in '91, Topeka in '92, and Chicago in '93 The roll was called and the representatives of each state had an opportunity to name their choice for commander in chief. Connecticut nominated Colonel Wheelock G. Veazey and Maine seconded the nomination California named Colonel Smedburg, a retired officer of the regular army. Indiana and Ohio gave their support to General Alvin P. Hovey. As the roll call ended, Colonel Smedburg and General Hovey withdrew their names This action was greeted with great applause and by a unanimous vote Colonel Veazey was declared elected commander in chief. Colonel Veazey accepted his honor in a brief speech. Next in order was the candidate for senior vice commander-in-chief, and, it being considered an office which out of courtesy belonged to Massachusetts, the matter was left with the delegates from that state. The name of Richard Tobin was presented as the unanimous choice. Geo R. Creamer, of Baltimore, was unanimously elected junior vice commander. The remainder of the officers will be elected to morrow. The next encampment will be held at Detroit

WASHINGTON, August 13 Colonel Wheelock G. Veazey, who was to-day elected commander in chief of the G. A. R., is an interstate commerce commissioner, a native of New Hampshire and has just passed his 50th year. He is a graduate from Dartmouth college with honors and is one of the present board of trustees He served throughout the war in the 16th Vermont, and was appointed colonel in 1862 He has been a member of the Grand Army for a number of years and his election is well received here.

Water Spout at Florissant.

FLORISSANT, Colo., August 13 E J Waltemeyer, engineer on No 8, to-night brought intelligence of a water spout up the canon from this city about 5 30 p m. Mr. Waltemeyer reported that the flood struck them about four and a half miles from here near Bellevue. It is reported that the water stood 30 feet in the gorges. "The water struck us about 6 30," said the engineer, "coming slowly at first, but gaining a terrible velocity as it gained the open valley. Everything gave way before the flood. Many houses along the canon are standing in from two to six feet of water and cattle, pigs, etc, were washed away."

Engineer J. B. Steveve of engine 85, train 85, walked over the mountain to town. He reports his train has arrived in on both sides near the 33 mile post All the bridges between here and there are washed away and he was much surprised to find that engine 8 had arrived safely At 8 30 the water is still rushing past this place filled with debris, but no further damage is feared as the water has reached its greatest depth and has now a free passage to the Platte

Markham for Governor

SACRAMENTO, August 13 The republican state convention met to day After the adoption of the platform and before the vote on the first ballot could be announced for governor a motion was made that the nomination of Col Henry Markham be made unanimous and it was carried amid much enthusiasm

Farmers in Session

COLUMBUS, O, August 13 Four hundred and fifty farmers met here in state convention to day, in response to a call by prominent agriculturists, to take action toward presenting their interests to congress and the state legislature There was a strong effort made to keep the movement out of political channels A recess was taken after the appointment of a committee on resolutions

The resolutions were reported later and set forth that the farmers must take a new departure and henceforth be a factor in politics The question was whether this could be best accomplished by the formation of a farmers' party or by making their influence felt in the control of the existing parties It is the sense of the convention that they should thoroughly test the latter course Their aim should be to give direction to the action of the political parties so as to encourage and protect the interests of agriculture The resolution concludes

"We are in favor of government control of railroads and telegraph lines as to rates and charges, the unlimited coinage of silver and the making of it a legal tender for all debts, public and private, the election of United States senators by popular vote, the forfeiture of all unearned land grants, the protection of pure food products from the ruinous competition of adulterated products, and the passage of a law nullifying the effect of the original package decision"

A plan of organization was submitted and provides that the organization shall be known as the "Farmers' Union of the State of Ohio" S H Ellis, of Warren, was elected president

Mineral Palace Decorations

PUEBLO, Colo., August 13. The decorative artist is an important factor in making the great buildings of the world attractive In no other character of edifices, however, does he play so important a part as in those used for exhibition purposes From the moment the first mention was made concerning the Colorado Mineral Palace, now about completed at Pueblo, the question of decoration has been most freely discussed After receiving propositions from expert artists representing a majority of the larger cities of the country, the contract was awarded M R. Levy & Co., of New York and Denver. With regard to the decoration of the palace Mr. Levy said to-day:

"Upon entering the building we wish to give the visitor the same impression he would feel should he be admitted within the walls of an East Indian palace that warm gorgeous effect over which the poet sings and the novelist delights to build word paintings Now understand this is the grand central idea and I cannot particularize without detracting from a scene that must harmonize in all its parts to be complete As you see the ceiling is composed of domes and it is scarcely necessary to say that they give the decorative artist an almost boundless limit in which to show the beauty of his art The three large central domes will contain allegorical groupings representing the arts and sciences and the talented artists who will do the work have no superiors upon this continent. Each of the twenty two smaller domes will represent a different floral study They will so nearly represent natural flowers that the sentimental will generously inhale the atmosphere hoping to catch a breath of fragrance from the life like buds and flowers. The base of the grand central dome will be circled by a frieze consisting of the coats of arms of all the states and territories, and mammoth silver dollars, all upon a background of brilliant minerals. Plastic relief will play an important part in the scheme of decoration more especially as regards the massive pillars which support the domes An attractive feature will be the introduction of Indian allegorical panels in the larger pillars The electric illumination of the building will be placed so as to best suit the general effect. Each jet will also form part of some floral design, as an instance, the petal of the lotus flower or the bud of the water lily. Later on I will be pleased to give you further particulars, but I know newspaper readers do not care to be bored with technical terms, and we have so many expressions so full of meaning to us and at the same time so meaningless to the uninitiated that I can't give you the full benefit of my ideas. You may say this much, however, the Colorado Mineral Palace will be as magnificently decorated as any exhibition building yet erected in the United States Our Mr Abbatt left for New York Monday morning to engage the best talent money will obtain It is our intention to make this building very superior. It will reflect credit upon the state of Colorado and be a fitting home for the precious stone of the richest mineral state on earth."

NEW DEAL IN STRIKE.

The Firemen Ordered Out by the Chief of the Brotherhood.

Trouble Now Expected and the Pinkerton Men are on Hand.

A Strike on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad Lines.

Affairs at Grand Central Depot Resume a Normal State.

Firemen Ordered Out.

ALBANY, N Y, August 13 Division Chief Reed of the locomotive firemen's brotherhood, is authority for the following "We are all ordered out by order from headquarters" The strike was ordered by Sargent, general chief of the firemen's brotherhood It is understood that the order applies to the New York Central and West Shore roads and it is reported here that the firemen on the latter have already struck and the road is tied up

Vice President Webb was in Albany late this afternoon, and after a hurried consultation with the officers at the New York Central offices returned at once to New York No hour has been fixed for the firemen to go out. Three carloads of Pinkerton men have just left the depot to protect the non union men in the West Albany yards, where serious trouble is anticipated

The Delaware and Hudson switchmen and brakemen have gone out and the road is tied up One hundred and fifty Michigan Central men were sent to West Albany at 11 o'clock to move the freight for the New York Central The men claim that the Delaware and Hudson officials were endeavoring to move New York Central freight in violation of a promise made to the district assembly They say the strike will extend the whole length of the road before night The passenger trains are all running and the strikers say they will not disturb them The knights claim that the action of the Central people in bringing on a large number of switchmen from the Michigan Central yards will at once extend the strike to the western lines of the Vanderbilt system

At noon the Delaware and Hudson Canal company freight and yard men except the engineers and firemen, quit work It is said the Boston and Albany and Fitchburg freight departments will strike before night Trouble is feared here now General Manager Young, of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, claims that the strike only includes freight handlers switchmen and yardmen in the Albany yards.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind, August 13 Grand Master Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, left at noon for Cleveland to meet with the grievance committee, but whether or not in connection with the Central strike is not known at the national headquarters The positive statement is made that he has ordered the firemen to strike, but when seen by an Associated press reporter yesterday, Sargent said it was out of the question for the brotherhood to engage in a strike as the case stood

The Central Railroad Strike

NEW YORK, August 13 The strike remains practically unchanged excepting that the officials of the road claim the situation is improved They say that the running of passenger trains has resumed the normal condition and freight trains will be more regularly moved to-day No blockade exists anywhere in the net work of tracks in the big yards, and cars are now standing on the proper side tracks ready to be coupled for the outgoing trains which are handled by train dispatchers without any delay and with but very little inconvenience

Meetings were held this afternoon by the three local assemblies They claimed that everything was in their favor and very little switching was being done. The rumor that the West Shore railroad is tied up on account of the engineers going out has been found false. At the Grand Central depot it is stated that all the engineers are at work. No strike of engineers is liable to happen on either road. The strikers took heart to day when they heard of the strike on the Delaware and Hudson Canal company's lines and were jubilant.

General Superintendent Voorhees this evening said he had received a report in the afternoon that indicated an unconditional surrender on the part of the Knights of Labor of the Harlem division. He had received a message last evening informing him that a committee had just waited on Superintendent Worster and informed him that the local assembly, No 1705, located at Dover Plain, had surrendered their charter It is confirmed by a message addressed to E J. Lea, and signed N. L Fenn The strikers made no conditions They said they were ready for any disposition the company may see fit to make of them They are ready to go to work at once and Voorhees replied to Worster directing him to employ four conductors and twelve brakemen, the balance to report at the Grand Central depot.

She will Go Back.

NEW YORK, August 13. Four European steamships to day landed 1648 immigrants Among the passengers on the Wisconsin were 80 Mormons en route for Utah There was among them a beautiful 17-year old girl from England, Eliza Geo. She was a convert and on her way to join her father, a Mormon His conversion 12 years ago caused his wife to die of grief Eliza was trained by her relatives and recently the father sent an elder to convert the girl and succeeded On her way over a passenger dissuaded Eliza from going to Utah and the girl will return to her English relatives. The elder was furious but it was in vain.

Pumping Irrigating Water.

By special invitation of the committee on irrigation, a number of the aldermen went out and visited the new well and pump near Roswell yesterday afternoon to look over the work already done and to decide whether the city shall go on and dig more galleries Alderman Sprague went around with a large carriage and gathered up Aldermen Rudy, Leach, Barnes, Gillingham and Bartlett and a GAZETTE representative, and took them to the grounds As the party approached the place it seemed almost deserted There was no smoke issuing from the tall smoke stack that overtops the boiler and no noise came from the pump, but on alighting the engineer came forward and soon started the pump up On twenty five pounds of steam the pump threw a solid stream of water six inches in diameter for nearly five feet There was a little pulsation of the flow but still a good stream poured out It ran down a trough into the flume of the city ditch crossing the Monument and materially augmented the volume of water flowing in the ditch The engineer said that he could keep up this rate for forty two minutes before exhausting the water in the well By pumping slowly at nearly half the capacity of the pump he could keep going steadily. He burns about two tons of coal a week

The source of the water is in two wells connected by a gallery on the west bank of the Monument just where the city ditch crosses that stream They are not in the bed of the stream, but are considerably to one side of it The principal one, in which the pump is placed, is about twenty feet inside the bank and about twenty feet deep The sides are protected by a loose wooden crib through which the water trickles The other well is not so deep by about three feet It is just on the edge of the creek bank and is also cribbed up A perceptible stream of water flows continually west from the small well into the larger one, but the main stream seems to come in from the west On this account, if the work is continued, another gallery will be run out toward the west to augment this flow

The pump is a Nye No 6, made at the Greeley foundry In principle it much resembles James Watt's steam engine There are two large cast iron cylinders joined in a pair. Steam is let into one of these and condensed by a jet of water This forms a vacuum and the water rises in the pipe to fill the space The steam is then let back into the cylinder and forces the water out through the discharge pipe When the cylinder is full of steam it is again condensed and the water again forced out While one cylinder is filling up the water is pouring from the other, making an almost continuous stream The steam is supplied from a small steam boiler which stands a few feet away

The councilmen inspected all parts of the grounds and then returned to the city discussing whether it would be best to continue the work this summer If the galleries should be extended and a sufficient supply of water obtained to run the pump steadily, with the water in the reservoirs the city might be able to tide over another dry season The question will probably come up at the next council meeting and will then be acted upon

Prince George

New York Sun.

Mr C. B. Metcalfe, one of the local representatives of a British bank, tells this story relative to Prince George. "A chum of mine," he said, "was at one time first officer on one of the Peninsular and Oriental line steamships A few days out from London his ship fell in with the British man-of-war Bacchante from Colombo As is customary in such cases the Peninsular ship stopped to take such mail as the officers and sailors on the man of war might have ready to post A small boat put out from the Bacchante with the mails in charge of a midshipman. That midshipman was Prince George, who was serving his first term so to speak, as an officer in her majesty's navy. He came on board, delivered his mail, and was about to return to the Bacchante when my friend, who was in charge of the ship at the time, invited him below to have refreshments The midshipman accepted gracefully, and ate a biscuit with brandy and soda accompaniment with such evident appreciation of the courtesy that the first officer was led to enter into conversation He began with a dreadful break. 'By the way,' he remarked, 'you've got Prince George on board, haven't you? What a bore that must be I should hate to serve on a ship with him I suppose he's nasty particular, isn't he, and makes the men stand round?' The midshipman laughed quietly. 'Well, I think not,' he replied, 'I'm not certain, don't you know? I'm Prince George The first officer had the sense neither to hem and haw and apologize After a startled instant he said, 'Well, let's have another,' and the prince proved to be a first rate fellow by accepting and turning the first officer's embarrassment into laughter."

Other people here who know something about Prince George say that he is averse to dissipation, and that if he knew what a to-do was to be made over him at Newport he would avoid going there at all. They say his chief delight socially is to mingle with good fellows,

A WEIGHTY QUESTION.

The introduction of several resolutions in the senate, having for their purpose the limiting of debate on the tariff bill brings an important question to a point where it will probably have to be definitely decided upon within a few days. When the tariff bill was first taken up the republican senate caucus, under the influence of Speaker Reed and his following in the house and those senators who were particularly anxious to rush certain legislation through the senate, discussed the subject of a change in rules so as to limit debate at the will of the majority. The rule which would be made to apply was at that time practically decided upon in form, but the time of its introduction was left open. Undoubtedly a large number of republican senators who were fully in sympathy with the legislation [illegible] was proposed to influence by this change in rules were not in sympathy with the proposition to limit debate and so expressed themselves at that time. Some of these republican senators have forcibly expressed their views on this side of the question in the open senate since the caucus action.

Whether for the sake of harmony or the fear of actual defeat, up to this time the caucus resolution has not been introduced but several days ago Senator Blair, on his own responsibility, introduced a resolution, similar in its proposed ends to that decided upon by the caucus. This resolution of Blair's could very readily be shelved. Senator Blair is the last man in congress to talk with any influence about limiting debate. But the Hoar and Quay resolutions have followed and it is probable that backed by such influential members some definite action will now be taken. The question is a grave one. Either way it is decided an evil confronts the senate. If there is no limit to debate there is certain to be filibustering on the part of the opponents of the tariff or whatever other legislation may be in hand. If the debate is limited the majority of the senate opens the way for charges in some cases that its measures will not bear discussion and of autocratic gagging of the minority members, each of whom represents a body of citizens whose right to be heard is equal to that represented by each and every member of the majority. Thus far nearly four weeks have been spent on the tariff measure and less than one quarter of it has been considered. On some occasions the filibustering has been marked. Sections of it, of slight importance, which could have been decided upon fairly and fully in a few minutes, have been made the subject of long debates including a discussion of everything from the administration of the civil service law by President Harrison to the proposed erection of a public building on the Pacific coast. This is radically wrong and every fair minded person, in whatever political creed he may believe, will condemn it and commend any proposition which would correct the evil without carrying with it a greater one. In the case of the tariff measure putting a limit on debate would not carry with it the same evils as in some other cases for it has been considered for a greater length of time in the senate than is given to the vast majority of measures and in the last year the question has been very fully discussed in all its bearings both in and out of congress. But in other cases the republican senators, by limiting debate, might lay themselves open to the charge that the merits of their measures will not bear the light of discussion.

If hasty legislation is not always actually bad it is generally imperfect and inefficient. The good sense of the country is opposed to hasty legislation. Since the house has adopted methods for rushing its business through it seems all the more important that the senate should not. No one will doubt that the forced legislation during this session of congress in the house has lost for measures the confidence of the people which they might otherwise have had. The result would be the same were the same methods adopted in the senate. The people naturally look for more deliberate action on the part of the senate. It acts as a brake on the rapid action of the house. Free and unlimited discussion gives a chance for the sentiment of the people throughout the country to become evident. It gives a chance for well considered, intelligent action. Those who argue that it is necessary in order to get through with the business to cut short consideration do not argue on strong ground. If necessary a special session could be called in October after a short recess to consider important questions which cannot be left over. Congress has kept up well with the business of the country in the past, when discussion was unlimited, and the fact that it is now somewhat behind in its work this summer ought not alone to dictate the establishing of a precedent which may be full of danger for the future. The country can far better afford to pay the expenses of an extra session than to suffer from the evils of hasty legislation.

Fifty-First Congress.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, August 13. A resolution was agreed to directing the secretary of the navy to investigate the alleged counterfeit of the test stamp, for [illegible] for United States naval [illegible] Steel works, Pittsburg [illegible] then proceeded to the [illegible] of executive [illegible] taking the [illegible] offered by Edmunds yesterday limiting debate on the tariff bill was referred to the committee on rules and Blair's resolution authorizing provision for the previous question took the same direction on his own motion.

Quay's resolution providing, among other things, for a vote on the tariff bill on the 30th of August, was also, on motion, referred to the committee on rules.

Hoar offered an amendment so as to include the federal election bill among measures to be taken up for consideration at the present session, which was also referred to the committee on rules.

The house joint resolution extending the provisions of the existing laws providing for the temporary expenditures of the government to the 29th of August, was taken up and passed.

The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending question being on Vest's amendment offered Monday, reducing the duty on tin plates from 2 2-10 cents to 1 cent per pound, and Gray continued his argument in support of the amendment.

Morgan next addressed the senate in opposition to the proposed increase duty on tin plate. In conclusion he said: "I know that nothing which we can say will stay the majority. You, (addressing the republican side) have entered on the work of passing an act which throughout its every page adds burdens on the people. We cannot stop you. At all events we have done one thing which was right and proper and necessary that is we have had a free and open discussion of this matter."

The debate continued at length, being participated in by Carlisle, Gray, Aldrich, Hiscock and Dawes, the latter expressing the conviction that the laborer would rather pay one half cent more for a tin can bearing the stamp of the American eagle than one-half cent less for one bearing the stamp of the British lion.

The tariff bill was laid aside informally and the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was presented and agreed to.

Plumb, from the committee on appropriations, reported a joint resolution for the relief of destitution in Oklahoma and said that he would ask for action upon it to-morrow.

The house bill making an appropriation for additional clerical force in the pension office was taken from the [illegible] the calendar and various amendments reported by the committee on appropriations agreed to, when the bill passed.

After executive session the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

Cutcheon called up the senate joint resolution permitting Lieutenant Colonel Corbin, of the United States army, to accept a position in the World's Columbian exposition.

The resolution was opposed by Rogers, Farquhar, Henderson, of Iowa, and Dunnell, and the house refused by a vote of 27 to 67 to order the resolution to its third reading.

The speaker laid before the house the senate bill for the relief of Nathaniel McKay and the executors of Donald McKay, who seek compensation for work done upon monitors.

Springer made the point that the bill must be considered in committee of the whole but the speaker overruled the point of order and Springer appealed.

On sustaining the decision of the chair, the vote stood yeas 108, nays 21, showing no quorum.

A call of the house disclosed a bare quorum, which disappeared when the vote recurred on sustaining the decision of the speaker, and the house adjourned.

The Department [illegible] Uncommunicative.

WASHINGTON, August 13. For some unexplained reason the treasury officials were disposed to be very secret and mysterious in regard to to-day's silver transactions. They refused this morning to give out any information in regard to offers for the sale of silver bullion to the government which may be received by the department to-day under the circular of August 1st.

The director of the mint said this afternoon that the department would during the afternoon announce the London prices of silver, but would not under any circumstances let the public know the rates paid by the government for its purchases provided any were made. This evening he quoted the London prices and said the purchases, at the Philadelphia, San Francisco and New Orleans mints amounted to $1,000 ounces. He declined absolutely to say anything in regard to the price paid. It was learned, however, from another source, that the purchases were at rates slightly in excess of the London price, 51½ pence, and its New York equivalent $1.1254, and the offers aggregated nearly one million ounces.

NEW YORK, August 13. The action of the secretary of the treasury was looked for anxiously in Wall street to-day, as it was thought the policy of the government would be outlined by the developments to-day. It was ascertained that offers in the neighborhood of $1.13 were accepted and those at $1.14 rejected.

A Clay in Trouble.

PARIS, Ky., August 13. Hume Clay, a prominent young lumberman of this city, has been missing some days. It is now discovered that he has been guilty of extensive forgeries. His property is in the hands of the sheriff. It is alleged his liabilities will amount to more than one hundred thousand dollars. The whole of eastern Kentucky is startled by this discovery, as Clay stood well in social and commercial circles. His plan was to attach his grandfather's signature to notes.

Stock Market.

NEW YORK, August 13. After the first hour in the stock market dullness and stagnation again became the feature. There was a slight rally in the last few minutes and the close was dull but firm at small fractions under the first prices but close to the lowest of the day.

Democratic Convention.

COLUMBIA, S. C., August 13. The democratic state convention for the purpose of deciding whether the state officers shall be nominated by a convention or the primary plan met to-day.

The body is composed almost entirely of Tillmanites, they having carried 30 out of 35 counties on the election of delegates. Much confusion occurred through the nomination for temporary chairman, the Tillmanites objecting to the name proposed by the chairman of the state executive committee. The Tillmanites finally elected W. J. Halbert chairman and the convention took a recess to wait for the report of the committee on credentials.

There are few every day interests which so directly concern the health of the family, especially at this season of the year, as the business of the milkman. To deprive us of the staple he serves would be that of a great loss to most of us, certainly to our children, for upon it their proper nourishment depends. When we consider the many complaints made by the press and people regarding pure milk, and the numerous devices resorted to by unscrupulous dealers to impose upon an unsuspecting public an impure article, it becomes a matter of importance to know with whom you are dealing. In this connection I would invite the closest inspection of every department of the management of our cattle, their food, the water they drink, the facilities the animals have for obtaining water at any time, and our system of handling the milk after obtaining it to the time of delivering it to the many families we supply.

Respectfully,

F. W. KIHAM, Manager.

NEWS OF THE RESORTS.

Journal of Events and Personals of Cascade and Green Mountain Falls

GREEN MOUNTAIN FALLS.

Maj. J. W. Russell, Denver, is a late arrival at the Falls.

Mr. George Robinson, of Chicago, is a recent guest at the hotel.

J. B. Thomon, wife and daughter, of Topeka, are among late arrivals.

Mrs. E. A. Osmond, Cincinnati, and C. W. Oden, Kansas City, are among hotel guests.

Mr. W. S. Kale purchased lots 6 and 7, block 58, on Tuesday last, upon which he will erect a handsome home.

The excavation for Dr. Engleman's sanitarium is completed, and carpenters . busily engaged framing the building.

Dr. Buchannan, of Easton, Pa., occupies room No. 43 at the hotel. The doctor will remain for the season and may be consulted professionally.

Mr. L. R. Harshea, a manufacturer of Chicago, together with his wife, daughter and Mr. P. C. Docstader, of the A. T. & S. F. Ry., spent Tuesday at the Falls.

The demand for hotel, cottages and tent accommodations continues, and as yet everything is full. Accommodations may be had, however, by applying two or three days in advance.

In addition to the three lots recently selected for a club house by Mr. A. B. Whiting, his wife has purchased lot 44, block 19, for a residence. Mr. and Mrs. Whiting are from Topeka.

Among the many Denverites who spent Sunday at the Falls were H. N. Woods, H. B. Woods and lady, C. O. Durkee and wife, Miss Farron, Miss White and W. K. Buchinell.

A party composed of Miss Emma Doty, Miss S. Smith, Miss F. Smith, Cincinnati, and Mrs. M. A. Speers and the Misses Speers, of Nashville, Tenn., spent Tuesday at the Falls.

Miss Jennie R. Yarsay, well and widely known as a dealer in fine laces and ladies' fancy goods, is spending a few days at the Falls. She may be found at the hotel, Monday of each week with an assortment in her line.

The mayor and trustees elect of the town of Green Mountain Falls held their first meeting Tuesday evening for the purpose of organizing. The board was duly organized, after which adjournment was taken until this evening when they will meet to elect a clerk and for the adoption of ordinances.

The hop given by Miss Warren, at the hotel Saturday evening, in honor of the guests, was largely attended. A goodly number who came down from Denver to spend Sunday joined in the merry dance, while others engaged in progressive euchre, billiards, etc., whereby a most enjoyable evening was spent.

M. A. Low, vice president of the Rock Island railroad; W. I. Allen, assistant general manager, and Superintendent Dunlap, of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway; Chief Engineer Harvey and Geo. Duback, assistant general passenger agent of the same line, took in Green Mountain Falls Tuesday. They dined with Mr. J. B. Wilbur, on Park avenue.

CASCADE.

Mr. C. L. Gailing and G. M. Carter, of Colorado Springs, are registered at the Ramona.

One of the grandest storms of the season occurred here Tuesday, the top of each hill being, in turn, the objective point of an electrical display, and peals of thunder that shook the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Broadhurst will spend a few days of this week at Colorado Springs, superintending the furnishing of their new home on Weber street going down on the morning and returning on evening trains.

The rush of travelers to the Peak this week has been too great for the accommodations. Several large parties have gone up from the Ramona and had an hour's start of those arriving by the morning train. By so doing they were able to remain an hour longer on the summit.

Young men are very scarce here just now and the young ladies are obliged to dance together, which they find rather uninteresting. Why cannot more of the young men of Colorado Springs leave here in time to come up on the evening train and return in the morning? Recreation and warm welcome await them here evenings should they do so.

A progressive euchre party was given Monday evening with six tables and twelve games. The first lady's prize was won by Mrs. Enzie of Denver, and consisted of a silver spoon, the second prize, a box of candy by Mrs. Emery of Abilene. The first gentleman's prize, a paper cutter was won by Mr. Wheeler of Chicago, the second, a match safe, by Mr. Stivers of Cascade.

None who have read "Sweet Cicely," Samantha Allen's latest work, can fail to feel interested in the beautiful flower she so graphically describes, and from which the book received its title; so when Mr. Helser brought in this week a bunch of the mountain sweet cicely, the first discovered here this summer, each leaf bearing a delicate resinous drop, he was immediately surrounded by eager questioners as to its location and habits and those who secured sprays prize them as the choicest souvenirs in their collection of wild flowers. It is a pleasant though rare thing to see people exercising the utmost care to avoid trampling on or breaking the plants and shrubbery of the canon and clipping the flowers with scissors carried for that purpose, instead of tearing them up by the roots.

The City Directory.

Russell's Comedians in the "City Directory" will be the attraction at the opera house Saturday evening. An exchange says: "This organization comes crowned with laurels of almost an entire year's remarkable success at the Bijou theatre, New York, the house of all the great farce tragedies that have kept the country laughing during the past five years. Second only in the length of engagement of Dixey in Adonis, Russell's Comedians far eclipsed that famous success in magnitude of business done. Month in and month out the theatre has been packed to the walls with a wildly cheering, furiously laughing succession of audiences, and the universal verdict is that nothing of the sort has ever been witnessed in the great metropolis. With such people as comprise the Russell Comedians this condition of affairs is not to be wondered at. There is quaint, original Chas. A. Reed, who is without a peer in farce comedy in any country; William Collier, whose drollery and convulsing humor has placed him firmly at the top among his contemporaries; Ignatio Martinetti, absolutely the greatest terpsichorean artist at present before the public; W. F. Mack, whose name among eccentric character actors time cannot efface; Bert Haverly, who long ago acquired distinction by exceptionally clever work, and Charles V. Seaman, whose fun making is of a character which compels the most stoical to relent and become one of the convulsed mob. As much may truthfully be said of at least half a dozen of the female contingent of the organization. There is May Irwin who cannot make a move that is not funny if she tried; Flora Irwin, whose fame extends throughout the length and breadth of the land, and Amelia Glover, whose exquisite, graceful skirt dancing has literally set New York talking. These are but the principals in the now famous company, and their performance of the farce comedy, 'The City Directory,' may be readily imagined."

An El Paso County Industry.

A little over a year ago some people almost hooted at the idea of a paint factory in this city but the Ute Pass Paint company was backed and managed by competent, judicious business men, who thoroughly understood building up and maintaining a business. Saturday closed a three days session of the directors and stockholders, and the action there taken shows how the concern is prospering as a financial investment. At this meeting it was decided to erect ample room for the operation of a great deal of additional machinery needed in the manufacture of some special lines, which is soon to be commenced. They will at once put in the necessary machinery for making white lead and water colors, and a special material for carriage work. For the completion of the necessary works and the additional machinery $25,000 more in cash stock was taken. This prosperous condition of business speaks very highly for Mr. H. S. Worcester, whose services were secured for the coming year, as general superintendent and manager. At the close of the session the old members of the board of directors were re-elected: A. L. Humphrey, president; E. W. Sells, vice president; A. D. Conacher, secretary; E. Harris Jewett, treasurer. [Colorado City Iris.

After the heavy rain last night the air was full of curlews. These birds seem to be attracted by the lights of the city after every night rain. Another strange feature that followed after the rain last night were a large number of lizards. They were about six inches long and spotted black and white. They were quite numerous along Tejon street under the electric lights.

O'Reilly's Funeral.

BOSTON, August 13. The funeral of John Boyle O'Reilly occurred from St. Mary's church, Charlestown, to-day. Vast quantities of costly floral offerings lined the church and great crowds of people were unable to get admission to the services. The services consisted of requiem high mass, by Father Fuentont. There was no sermon. The interment was at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

W. S. MILLER, Sergt. Signal Corps.

The county commissioners spent yesterday in examining roads about Ute park.

Mr. E. S. Woolley, of the firm of Pitts & Woolley, has returned from a visit of two months in the east.

There will be a meeting of the trades assembly next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All delegates are particularly requested to be present.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for Mrs. R. A. Strand, W. Hurst, Miss L. Bartlett, E. O. Smith and Mrs. J. J. Schotten.

The offices of the president and the manager of the rapid transit company were moved last night to the car house, corner of Moreno avenue and Tejon street.

Mr. Max Cohn, who has been in the city for some weeks, left for Madison, Wis., yesterday afternoon, where he will enter a school of pharmacy during the winter.

The watermelon and lawn social to have been held Tuesday evening at 230 South Weber, will be held this evening instead. Everyone who comes will be made welcome.

At the drawing at C. E. Knapp's cigar store yesterday evening, W. A. Diebold drew the gold watch, W. F. Hunt the nickel watch, B. Haas the pipe and J. Elting the pocket knife.

Mr. H. G. Thornton called at this office yesterday and reports a full house in Manitou park. The new lake is now full and boats will be put upon it shortly and 20,000 trout have already been turned in.

Mr. H. T. O'Brien has leased the quarters on Tejon street now occupied by C. E. Dunkee's hardware store, which he will occupy with his big harness and trunk establishment as soon as Mr. Dunkee is able to get into his new quarters.

A special to the Denver Republican from Carthage, Ill., states that Mrs. Mary E. Gill, of that place, the lady who was injured along Ute pass by a Midland engine, some months ago, while riding with a party in a carriage, will bring suit for damages.

W... H. Hockenberry, who for some ... acted as cashier and corresponding clerk for W. F. McKechan, started last week for his home in Chambersburg, Pa., but died at Osage City, Kas., en route. He was an invalid and his father accompanied him.

In the window of Miss Moore's book-store, on North Tejon street, is a very ... display. The various illustrated supplements to the GAZETTE stand in a row ... the window, enclosed in ... frames of oak. The frames are well suited to the pictures and are very well done. The pictures appear to good advantage and make a very handsome ornament.

J. L. Malone of New York, the expert pool player, gave an exhibition in Ray and Reed's billiard room last night to a fair sized audience. He played a game of continuous pool with Ed Poor, a local player. Malone was to make 100 points to Poor's 50, but when the latter scored 50 Malone had but 97. He then gave an exhibition of fancy shots on the pool table that was greatly admired. Malone did not ... to be in very good form, ..., throughout the evening.

At ... 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a ... burst occurred alongside of ... line of the D. & R. G. near Borst, about 14 miles north of this city. About 100 yards of track was washed out and the train which left here at 3.05 returned about half-past six. A construction train was sent at once to the spot and the break will be closed by morning. The water filled the Monument full at the scene of the cloud burst, but by the ... the wave reached here it was only about three feet high.

County Superintendent Berrey took a run up from Pueblo yesterday afternoon, where he is in attendance upon the state teachers' meeting. He reports the meeting a great success, about 250 teachers being present, about fifty of whom are from El Paso county. The exercises so far have been interesting. Next Saturday an excursion of the teachers is to be run to this city and it is thought 150 will be here. Arrangements have been made with the rapid transit company to carry ... to the canon.

The examination of Griff Sherwood upon the charge of attempted rape was set for 9 o'clock yesterday morning in Justice Walker's court. Sherwood, however, failed to appear and his bondsmen forfeited the bail of $500. The bondsmen are A. B. McFarland and William Hillis, blacksmiths of the city. Sherwood's friends claim that they do not know what has become of him. All of the witnesses in the case have entered their recognizance to appear before the grand jury in November next.

S. N. Francis & Co. have presented the local passenger agents handsome invitations to be given the members of the national ...ociation to morrow for the ride. The invitations will be given the members on the train after leaving Denver. The rapid transit road has invited the ... bers of the association to a free use of its lines to any point during their stay. When the itinerary for the excursion was first gotten up Colorado Springs was forgotten, but the local agents do not propose that we shall get left.

F. A. Marcher will be remembered as a jeweler in this city doing business in a ... way about a year ago, and who ... got himself into the clutches of ... Marcher is now engaged in the ... business in Salt Lake City and ... Dana has recently had a little ... transaction with him that illustrates his methods. Some days ago a ... of ladies, sisters, arrived in the ... and ... of the marshal that ... a quantity ... Marcher while in Salt ... proved to be nothing but ... a very strong letter, but stated that if the money was returned the matter would not be given to the Salt Lake police. Marcher very quickly returned the money and paid the express both ways, but wrote a letter claiming that he did not sell the stones for genuine. The ladies claim that he did however. The ladies were collecting the money for a memorial room in an eastern college, and out of all purchased only three were of any real value.

Central Office for Austin Bluff Property.

The finest Suburban Residence Location combining view of mountain and plain in the state. Beautiful parks, overgrown with large pine trees—unequalled as a health location. Pure air, pure water, and plenty of it, both for domestic and irrigating purposes. No smoke! No dust! The track of the Electric Car Line is already laid from one of the parks in the center of this property to the city limits. Cars will be running within a few weeks, bringing this property within fifteen minutes' ride from the postoffice. Several fine residences will be erected on this property at an early date. Special Inducements offered for the next 60 days to parties buying lots with the intention of building at once. Why locate in the smoke and dust of our city when such an opportunity is offered? Each lot contains from one to four acres. Specially adapted for fine residences. This location speaks for itself. All that we ask is an inspection of the property before purchasing.

Agent for East Colorado Springs, Grand View and Knob Hill Additions.

EDWARD FERRIS,

(Agent for Eastern Capitalists)

Real Estate, Loans, Investments.

Special Pointers to Investors:

If you want to purchase for speculation or personal use improved residence property, desirable business property, vacant lots or acreage property, on which you can make from 50 to 100 per cent in a short time, come and look at the following:

SPECIAL BARGAINS:

COLORADO SPRINGS.

An improved corner on Cascade avenue below the College; ground 125x190 feet; paying 8 per cent net and growing in value every day.

An entire block in the north end of the city, fronting on Nevada avenue and Weber street, for sale as a whole or in lots.

A first class business property on Tejon St. now leased and paying 10 per cent net, and is increasing in value every year.

A splendid nine-room modern house in the extreme north end of the city, occupying one hundred feet of ground. A very desirable property for the money.

Four new pressed brick houses fronting on Tejon street and Nevada avenue, above the College reservation; handsome and modern in every respect.

A furnished house in a most desirable locality; rented on a lease at a price that will pay the purchaser 12 per cent net.

One hundred feet on North Weber in a desirable location, only three blocks from the park.

COLORADO SPRINGS.

Two lots fronting west on Cascade avenue in the midst of the most costly improvements now being made in the city.

TRINIDAD.

A tract of 40 acres one mile from the center of the city, at $300 per acre, immediately adjoining land that is selling for $400 per acre.

Business property on Main st., in the heart of the city, near the new hotel; has 66 feet front and is 130 feet deep. Rented at $600 per year and will double in value in two years.

Six hundred and forty acres two miles from the center of the city, in the direction of the most rapid business and residence growth, at $... per acre. This property offers a great opportunity and I believe that in five years it will pay the purchaser two hundred thousand dollars profit. Other acreage property in the same location is held at from two to three hundred dollars per acre. A good chance for a syndicate.

PUEBLO.

Two forty-acre tracts in the most improving and desirable part of the city; only a short distance north of the new Mineral Palace. The purchaser is sure to make 100 per cent.

Several first-class business properties on Santa Fe avenue, now paying ten per cent net in rents and rapidly growing in value.

A large number of vacant lots and improved residence properties at prices that will pay the purchaser large profits and good incomes.

MONEY TO LOAN.

I am prepared at all times to place money in good first mortgage loans in sums from $500 to $10,000 at reasonable rates of interest. Parties desiring to loan money should bear in mind that I carry at all times a large line of first class eight per cent first mortgage loans ready to pass over to persons wishing to invest.

We are Agents for the Sale of Lots in North End Addition, Broadmoor Wood Addition, Edward's Addition, North Colorado Springs, East End Addition, Knob Hill, Boulder Heights, Grand View Addition, East Colo. Springs, Colorado City, Kahn's Addition, Perrish's Add., Russell City, Rock Island Addition,

AND IN EVERY OTHER PART OF THE CITY.

Call at my office, on the ground floor, 104 Pike's Peak avenue, second door east of Tejon street. I have one large office room especially provided with eastern and home papers, writing conveniences, etc., for the use of all customers and visitors.

EDWARD FERRIS, 104 Pike's Peak Ave.

For Sale

On Cascade Avenue we have a choice building lot, 80 feet frontage and running back to the Creek; located between St. Vrain and Willamette Avenue, right in the center of the city. It's the very best lot in the market, and we own it; and having bought it low will dispose of it now at a bargain.
